DE ARYAN "POLITICAL PRISONER"

Placed In County Jail; Trial In National Capital

NEEDS FUNDS FOR FIGHT

By Roy O. Akers

C. Leon de Aryan was arrested at his home Wednesday evening, June 22, 1942, by U. S. Marshall Ransdall, serving a "fugitive" warrant of the U. S. Commissioner for the District of Columbia.

It is alleged in this warrant that Mr. de Aryan committed the crime of "conspiracy for sedition", in the City of Washington, D. C., by having caused two copies of The Broom, to be delivered by the U. S. Post Office to a certain Adam Quigley, at his P. O. Box in Washington. It is also alleged that by this delivery of said copies of The Broom, of the month of June, 1942, which it is charged carried "the sedition material" de-Aryan committed alleged sedition in the District of Columbia, which is said to give the Grand Jury there, jurisdiction over him, and he must stand trial in the Capital.

Mr. de Aryan says he mailed these copies to Quigley upon the request of one Jeffery Breen, if his memory serves him right, in the same manner he or any other newspaper would do, upon similiar request.

BAIL SET AT $5,000

Taken Thursday morning before U. S. Commissioner George Baird, where he was without counsel, he learned further that he is alleged to have committed the crime of "conspiring to incite the armed forces to sedition" in Washington, D. C.

The bail of $5,000 was set comparatively low by Commissioner Baird, such cases drawing around $20,000 in most of such instances. Up to the time of going to press, bail had not entirely been aranged for, after five days of incarceration, proving that de Aryan had no financial backers who would come to his aid in such an emergency. In the mean time he is on a fast, or so-called "hunger strike" until such bail is forth coming or he is transferred to Washington.

POLITICAL PRISONER

At the San Diego County jail it is said that other prisoners there were informed that de Aryan is "no criminal", and that he is held there for the U. S. government as a "political prisoner" only.

TO MANAGE OWN DEFENSE

In regard to representative counsel in Washington, Mr. de Aryan says: "I came to this country without money and my only capital is my brain, brawn and faith in the Almighty. You folks will have to supply the funds. I'll supply the faith and the intelligence which will re-enact "Daniel in the lion's den".

"I'll need plenty of money for the trip to Washington, besides the bail, and the expense of living there for perhaps two months. It will be a long trial."

"Get in touch with Mrs. Genevieve de Aryan, P. O. Box 349, East San Diego, Calif., or phone Randolph 2874.. DO IT NOW !"

NOT GUILTY

Mr. de Aryan states he is not guilty of such charges and has always, since he became a citizen of the United States of America, upheld the Constitution and the principles for this democratic republic.

CAME BEFORE COMMISSIONER, NO JUDGE

A letter written to Federal Judge McCormack by Mr. de Aryan, was filed as correspondence only, as there is no case entitled "de Aryan" before the Federal Court here. This letter was a request for a hearing for habeas corpus proceedings, but as this is a Federal matter, states rights are apparently ignored or superseded by District of Columbia orders.

He was, at this writing, waiting removal to Washington, D. C., where it is understood the trial is to start Thursday, July 30, 1942.

SUBSCRIBERS' PATIENCE AND INDULGENCE ASKED

The patience and indulgence of Broom subscribers is asked in this hour of stress.

The smaller size paper and consequential lack of many features of the Broom in this and possibly next issue, is due to the lack of time to thoroughly edit copy, and to the added burden of producing the paper now thrown upon the new temporary editor and publisher.

Your continued financial and moral support will be highly appreciated and will most thankfully be received by Mrs. de Aryan, who with her two sons, David and Freddie, are left practically in a destitue condition by the elimination of the bread-winner of the family.

Until further notice, each issue of the Broom will be delayed perhaps for two or three days as the P. O. department must first O.K its mailability.

TELL-TALE BLOOD MIX-UPS

WASHINGTON,— Rep. Rankin of Miss. says in COGR. RECORD 7-2-42, p.A2782: "Mr. Speaker, it may interest the House to know that we have about worked out a plan to tax the vast fortune of Marshall Field 3rd, despite the legal subterfuge with which it has so far been protected . . . I note that PM, the uptown edition of the Communist DAILY WORKER, which is being financed out of the Field fortune, is still attacking me for backing up the Red Cross in isolating the blood now being banked for our wounded soldiers. PM seems to be more interested in this proposition, if possible, than it is in having its editor, Ralph Ingersoll, evade the draft. These crackpots sare not going to compel the Red Cross or the Army or the Navy to pump Negro blood or Japanese blood into our wounded white boys if I can prevent it. But PM boasts that the O.C.D. is not labeling the blood it is storing up for the men, women and children who may be injured in air raids. If that is true, they had better pour it into the gutter and get their supply from the Red Cross, or, better still, turn that phase of civilian defense over to the Red Cross. Leading doctors thruout the country say that no one can tell the consequences of pumping the blood of another race into the veins of your child. The chances are that it would crop out in the children of the one so treated. This is one of the most dangerous and dastardly propositions that has ever been advanced by these enemies of our form of gov't. and our way of life. Wake up, Americans. While our boys are fighting the enemies from without, let us take care of the enemies who are boring from within."

No longer the easy way of life for any of us. All must face the stern realities of war.

Benjamin Franklin once declared that "there never was a good war, or a bad peace!"

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

I was very much pleased to see your July 13, 1942 issue of THE BROOM. Among the many HY-LITES in this issue, I find the article on Infantile Paralysis. As this issue is dated as of my seventy-sixth birthday, it is apropos for me to tell your readers a little of my long experience in treating this as well as other similar forms of paralysis.

During 1915, 1916 and 1917, I gave lectures to registered physicians throuout the United States. In Chicago alone, I gave fifteen special courses. During these courses I gave demonstrations of ways and means of utilizing NATURAL LAWS to bring about Natural Health.

My demonstrations and talks regarding Infantile Paralysis were of particular interest during those years, so I was askt to repeat them often. I often related my observations during the years 1882, 1883 and 1884 while studying with doctors who used Natural methods they had learned from "The Back-woods Folk" as well as "Injuns". I often was sent out on horseback to help carry out the "hot-cloths" system of treating Paralysis in children. I found that many of the country folk used hot cloths and simple herb and root teas and applications and all I had to do was to see that they had suitable cloths and herbs to carry on their faithful work.

I found that thees folks used very gentle massage, as well as gradual movements of the limb to "help Nature put more blood into the paralyzed parts". This is the explanation I first heard and learned to duplicate.

As years went by I devized many different appliances to exercize the partially dormant tissues. At first I made mechanical devices operated by clock-work. Later I utilized electricity as a stimulant as well as a means of movement exercisess.

My lectures in full are recorded in the Seventh Edition of my book entitled " A LECTURE COURSE to PHYSICIANS on Natural Methods in Diagnosis and Treatment", published in 1918. In 1924 was published my latest ediiton of the book: "THE NATURAL WAY, or MY WORK". In this book is illustrated the latest devices I used for this work at that time. These two large text boks are long out of print, but sometimes a secondhand copy can be had at book stores that buy up books to help close up an estate.

For the first few weeks great care must be taken to not make the massaging and exercising too strenuous. Gentle movements only should be given after a few weeks' of complete rest. The bowels must be kept active and the diet must be of the most simple nature. I give nothing made from grains and no beans and no potatoes. Hot-cloth wet applications are best, if no other means be at hand for the heating of the afflicted parts.

In the book THE NATURAL WAY, on page 472 Figure 154 is illustrated the way I successfully treated a Pullman-Car conductor 42 years of age, who was sent to me from Back-East, after the company doctors had given him up as "incurable". One of the doctors happened to have been a pupil in one of my Chicago Lecture Courses and herd me tell how I worked. He tried to do it, but wasn't epuipped for the work well enough to carry on this special work. I gave the treatments as illustrated once daily and his wife used hot cloths and gentle massage, while the man used his MIND in trying to make his muscles work. "Mind over matter" must never be overlooked. After six months this man had his Conductor job back again and in all these years he has never had a return of his trouble.

Dr. George Starr White, M. D.
Los Angeles, California.

My dear friend:

Am exceedingly happy that by "coincidence" July 13th issue of THE BROOM "celebrated" your 76th birthday appropriated by publishing the first half of the Kenny article. Many thanks for your timely reminiscences and may you be spared us for many a year to come.

You know sometimes it happens that the "Health Germs" are left out in an issue, either MS has run out or at the last moment some stuff has to be put in and we pulled your column and kept it for the next issue, figuring you wouldn't mind, since you understand the mechanics and troubles afflicting a small weekly newspaper and its staff. And without fail each time, some of our subscribers bawls us out and wants to know what happened to Dr. White's column. It has helped many people think and revise their attitude towards health and drug tinkering and poisons.

Wishing you long health and youth, sincerely,
KOSTI.

AKERS EDITOR-PUBLISHER; MRS. DE ARYAN OWNER

To Whom It May Concern:

In order that the continuity of The Broom may not be broken, at least until the fate of Mr. de Aryan is known, I am donating my services as managing editor and publisher of The Broom.

The ownership is vested in Mrs. Genevieve de Aryan, to whom all accounts are payable, and who is liable and responsible for all debts past, present and future of The Broom, until further notice.

There will be no back numbers or copies of The Broom, prior to this issue, June 27, 1942, mailed, given out or other-wise desposed of to anyone by me, and no one else is or will have the authority to do this act in the name of The Broom, and furthermore I am accepting no responsibility if such an act is done and such copies are given out. Furthermore I am accepting no responsibility for past performances, utterance, policies, etc, etc. of The Broom or Mr. de Aryan, nor offering any apologies.

If matters of national policy, the war or such like matters are touched upon during my editorship, it will be in a vein of complete desire and co-operation for a quick, successful, de-bottle-necked, and final victory, freedom and peace for the United States of America, and the individual sovereignity of our citizens.

ROY O. AKERS.

COUNTRY DISTILLERIES

OTTAWA, Ill.,—It has ben pointed out that under our present setup in the distillery business we do not produce alcohol as economically as we should from farm grains because our breweries and distilleries are largely located in large cities, where the grain has to be shipped and the residue or brewers' grain has to be dried, sacked, and shipped back to the country to be sold as stock feed. We should have smaller distilleries located throut the grain producting and stock feeding areas where alcohol could be produced and the brewers' grains used as stock feeds without the necessity of drying, sacking, paying freight two ways and several dealers' profits. It is said that at the beginning of the present war Germany had 36,000 small distilleries throut that country that have kept her supplied with alcohol for use as aviation fuel and for the manufacture of high explosives and synthetic rubber. We might take a lesson from this. B. U. HIESTER.

SECRET SOCIETY FORMED

Sen. Gerald P. Nye (R.-N.D.) told the senate that an investigation would reveal 'the existence in this country of a secret society that has been engaged for the last two years in an undertaking to gather such information as would permit the smearing of individual members of the senate. I have in my possession information that goes directly to the existence of such a society,' he said.

Sen. Clark said the conspiracy against Sen. Walsh recalled a recent dinner of the Overseas Writers in Washington, at which Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter, MacLeish and other administration officials applauded a statement by Edmund Taylor, an employee of the Office of the Coordinator of Information, that former noninterventionists should be charged with subversive activities, violating the Mann Act, the income tax law, or anything necessary to 'get them'.—The Cross and the Flag.

State Controller Riley For Re-Election

Harry B. Riley, State Controller for the past six years, has announced his candidacy for re-election at the August primaries. The State controller's office was created by the original state constitution in 1849 and is responsible for the collecting & disbursing of state funds and the examining of all claims filed against the state.

"This office checks carefully all claims made against the state before payment is ordered. Claims for every item purchased by the state, from a lead pencil to construction of the $70,000,000 San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge, are audited by a staff of trained accountants to see that the claims are valid and in proper legal form," Riley said.

"As a result of such close scrutiny California taxpayers have been saved $12,500,000 by our rejecting improper claims, in the past six years. During the past year more than $8,000,000 in claims filed against the state were corrected and some $3,000,000 in improper claims were rejected," he said.

The state controller is also responsible for the collection of inheritance and gift taxes and last year this department yielded $12,000,000 in revenue, Riley added.

At the present time Riley said his office is custodian of 125,000 city lots and 2,000,000 acres of ranch, timber and mountain lands. "During the past year thousands of pieces of tax deed lands have been redeemed and returned to the county and city tax rolls for local revenue," Riley said.

In seeking re-election Riley concluded, "this office is operated in a non-partisan manner and is the bookkeeping department for California. Savings amounting to thousands of dollars are affected annually by the efficient operation of all of our departments.
